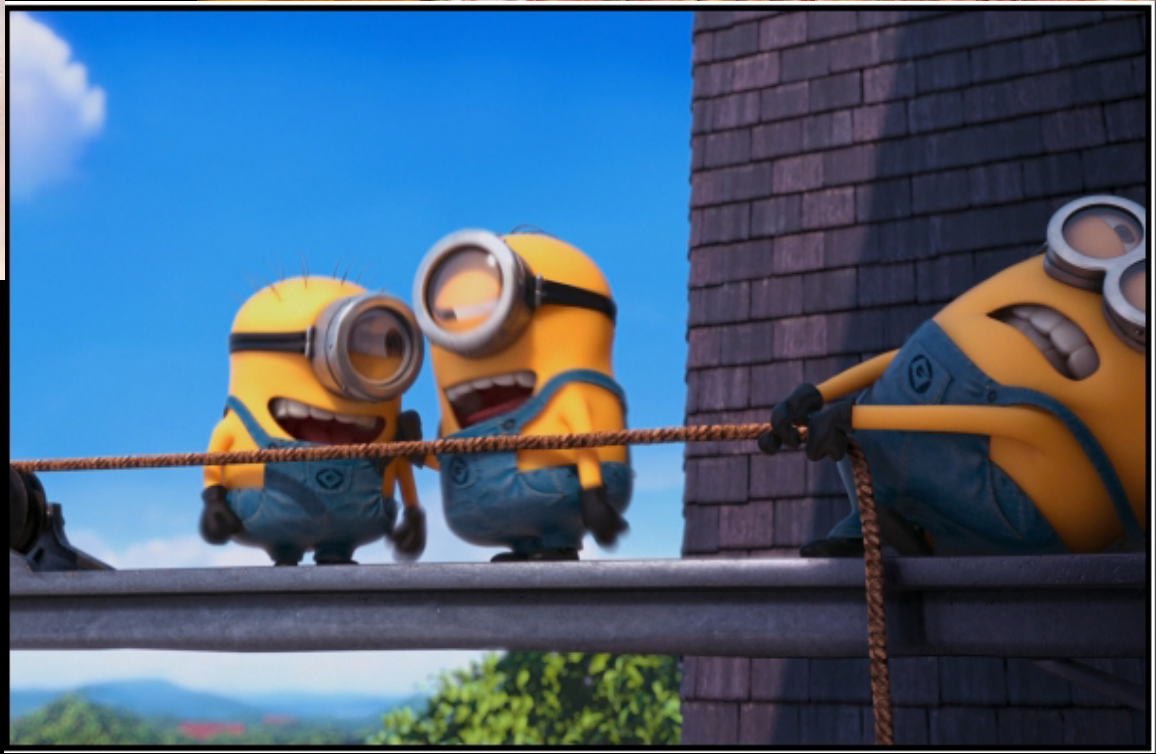
LEADERSHIP DEVELOPMENT IN PACIFIC RIM FIRMS

Alec Levenson

Center for Effective Organizations
University of Southern California

What does an effective leader do?

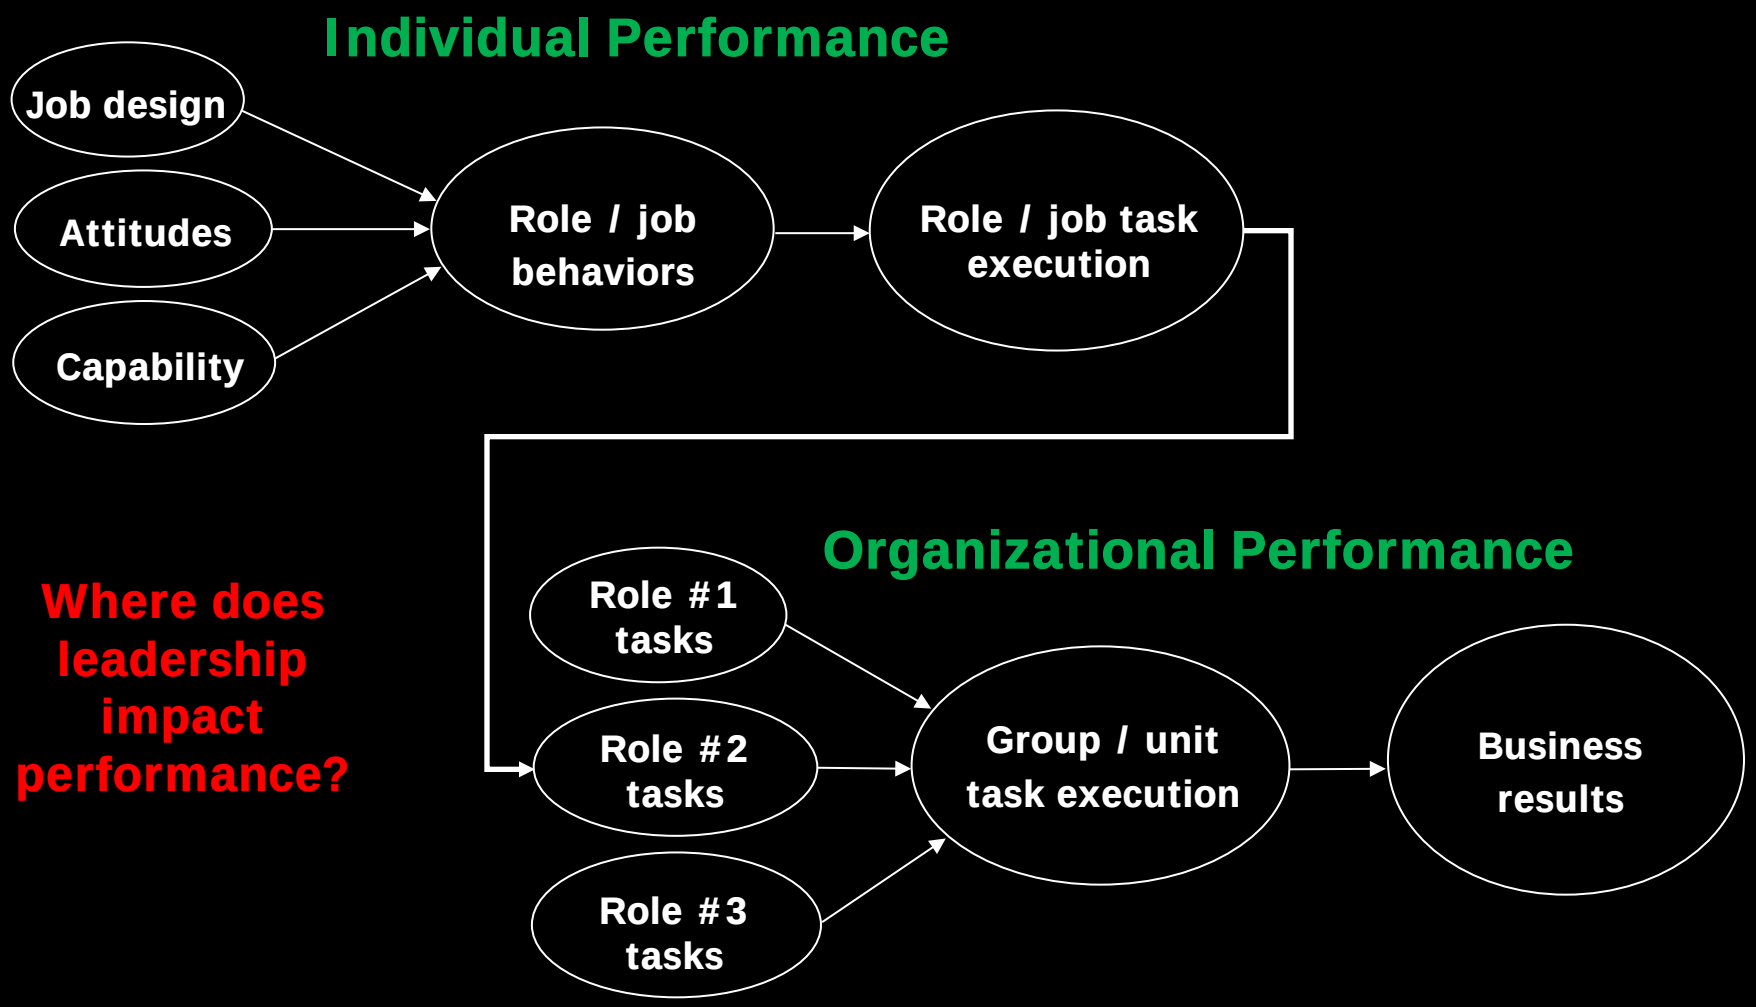


What is the role of the leader vs. his/her group in driving performance?

Effective leaders enable others to perform:

True or False?

Causal Performance Model: Individual & Org Levels



Where does leadership impact performance?

How do we create more effective leaders?

Is Leadership Development an Art or Science?

What is the role of HR in developing leaders?

Does HR's role evolve as the organization grows?

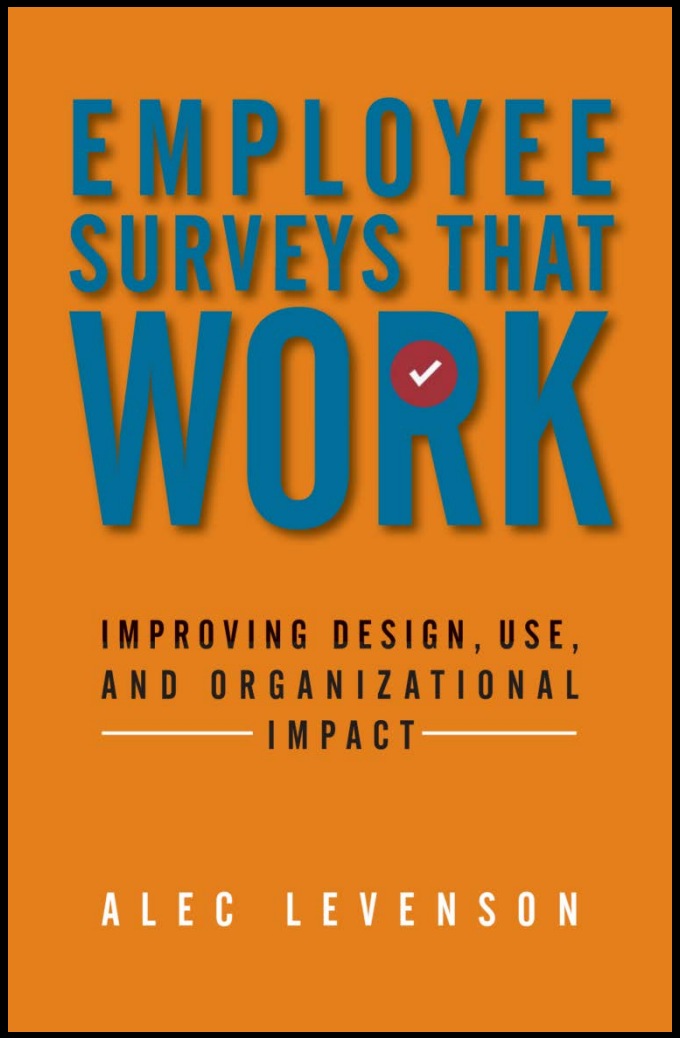
Questions for the panel

- What do you see as key issues for developing leaders:
  - In Myanmar?
  - In other Pacific Rim countries?
- How do the needs for leadership development evolve as companies grow?
- What are the most important sources of leadership for your organization?

For Additional Information

Dr. Alec Levenson
Senior Research Scientist

Center for Effective Organizations
Marshall School of Business
University of Southern California

alevenson@marshall.usc.edu


http://ceo.usc.edu